

Because you love me 3 24 15

There are days when I feel tired
There are days when I feel drained
There are times when I just want to give up
There are times when life is full of curves
I am precious because you made me
I am valuable because you say I am
I can do all things when you give me strength
Because you made me I am worthy

I forget the reason I that I live so many times, or is it that I find it hard to trust in your promises

I try to explain the situations that happen in my life, both good and bad
I know that I matter, because I have a Father who died for my sins
I know that I have a purpose for everything He has called me to do
